

Reference list

Buchanan, F., Capanni, N. and González-Vélez, H. (2015). Distributed aggregation of heterogeneous Web-based Fine Art Information: enabling multi-source accessibility and curation. The Knowledge Engineering Review, 30(2), pp.220–236.

fonts.adobe.com. (n.d.). Neue Haas Grotesk / Adobe Fonts. [online] Available at: <https://fonts.adobe.com/fonts/neue-haas-grotesk#fonts-section> [Accessed 5 Jan. 2022].

Huang, H.-C. (2015). How Does Meetings, Incentives, Conventions, and Exhibitions Industry Attract Exhibitors? Asia Pacific Journal of Tourism Research, 21(1), pp.73–93.

Kurihara, Y. (2004). Accessibility in the arts. [MA dissertation] Available at: https://winch.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/44UOW_INST/1id49sh/cdi_proquest_journals_305212566 [Accessed 8 Oct. 2021].

Moskowitz, H.R. and Mets, T. (2011). Marketing Museums and Exhibitions: What Drives the Interest of Young People. [online] Taylor & Francis Online. Available at: <https://doi.org/10.1080/19368623.2011.577696> [Accessed 13 Dec. 2021].

Potter, S. (2015). Investigating the barriers to accessing mainstream arts opportunities for disabled and/or marginalised artists and writers. Creative Future, pp.2–10.

Typefaces, P. (2021). Extrasober online exhibition. [online] Fonts in Use. Available at: <https://fontsinuse.com/uses/43748/extrasober-online-exhibition> [Accessed 2 Jan. 2022].